Dear Potential Supplier:

It is my pleasure to acquaint you with our company, Logan Aluminum Inc. ("Logan") a management company created in 1985 for the sole purpose of managing and operating the assets of the aluminum industry's most advanced "state of the art" rolling complex.

Logan is a Delaware corporation with its principal office at the plant site in Logan County, Kentucky on U.S. Highway 431, seven miles north of Russellville, Kentucky.

The formal ownership is in the form of a production joint venture between Tri-Arrows Aluminum Inc. ("TAA") and Novelis, Inc. Logan oversees the plant's activities on behalf of TAA and Novelis, producing aluminum sheet products such as beverage can body and end stock. Logan schedules and ships the joint venture products for TAA and Novelis, each of whom sells through its own sales organization.

Logan is reimbursed for operating the facility by TAA and Novelis, who will each be responsible for their respective shares of the capital costs as well as the fixed and variable costs of operating the plant. In addition, each party pays a management fee to Logan for its services in operating the plant.

In carrying out its responsibilities under the joint venture arrangement, Logan acquires or contracts in its own name for all necessary equipment, material and supplies. All vendors supplying equipment, materials supplies or services to Logan should submit invoices in the name of Logan Aluminum Inc. to our Russellville office located at the Logan Plant. Remittance will likewise be made by Logan from the Logan Plant. Inquiries concerning billing matters should be directed to Gary Grohovsky, Chief Financial Officer.

We value our relationship with you as one of our suppliers or potential suppliers and we look forward to a mutually beneficial relationship in the future. I hope that this brief introduction to our company enhances that possibility.

Sincerely,
